

WARSMITH DOMINUS.....180 POINTS

HQ

Of an equivalent rank to that of a Praetor, Warsmiths were the high commanders of the IVth Legion, under each a Grand Battalion of legionary warriors or a specialist formation built in accordance with the designs of the Warsmith himself. More than simply a leader, Warsmiths were architects of destruction who used their intricate knowledge of the mechanics of war to conduct their men with ruthless efficiency.

WARGEAR

Combi-grav

Although not the preserve of the Iron Warriors or even a specific product of their forges, the combi-grav, an individual weapon combining the utility of the bolter and the esoteric power of the graviton gun, was favoured by the Warsmith Dominus. They considered it to embody their creed – at once utilitarian but also capable of formidable destruction.

A Combi-grav is composed of a primary weapon and a secondary weapon, and a model with a combi-grav may attack with both primary and secondary weapons in the same Shooting Attack without needing the Firing Protocols (X) special rule.

The primary weapon listed here is counted as a 'Bolt' weapon for those rules that affect such weapons. The secondary weapon listed here is counted as a 'Graviton' weapon for those rules that affect such weapons.

Weapon	Range	Str	AP	Type
Bolter (Primary)	24"	4	5	Rapid Fire
Graviton gun (Secondary)	18"	†	4	Heavy 1, Blast (3"), Concussive (1), †Graviton Pulse, Haywire

Warsmith Dominus

The title of Dominus was applied to Warsmiths of the IVth Legion not by dint of rank nor hierarchy but instead to demark those that followed the Credo Dominia, a specific set of oathsworn principles by which the individual had pledged to follow.

A Warsmith Dominus may be selected as part of a Detachment with the Legiones Astartes (Iron Warriors) Faction and counts as a model with the Warsmith upgrade.
