

LEGION MASTODON ..... 690 POINTS

M	BS	Armour			HP	Transport Capacity
		Front	Side	Rear
Legion Mastodon	10	4	14	14	14	12	42

Unit Composition

- 1 Legion Mastodon

Wargear

- Centreline Mounted siege melta array
- Two Sponson Mounted heavy bolters
- Two Sponson Mounted heavy flamer
- Turret Mounted skyreaper battery
- Smoke launchers

Access Points

- A Legion Mastodon has one Access Point at the front and one Access Point at the rear.

Options

- A Legion Mastodon may take:
  - Up to four Hull (Front) Mounted hunter-killer missiles ..... +5 points each
  - Searchlights ..... Free
- A Legion Mastodon may exchange both of its Sponson Mounted heavy bolters for one of the following options:
  - Two Sponson Mounted heavy flamer ..... Free
  - Two Sponson Mounted lascannon ..... +10 points per model
  - Two Sponson Mounted volkite culverin ..... +10 points per model
- A Legion Mastodon may exchange both of its Sponson Mounted heavy flamer for one of the following options:
  - Two Sponson Mounted heavy bolter ..... Free
  - Two Sponson Mounted lascannon ..... +10 points per model
  - Two Sponson Mounted volkite culverin ..... +10 points per model
- A Legion Mastodon may exchange its skyreaper battery for:
  - Command vox relay ..... +25 points

Unit Type

- Vehicle (Super-heavy, Transport)

Special Rules

- Legiones Astartes (X)
- Assault Vehicle
- Transport Bay
- Void Shields (2)

LORDS of WAR

The Mastodon is one of the heaviest assault transports in the arsenal of the Legiones Astartes and one reserved for use against the most heavily fortified positions. Several times the size of a Land Raider, its transport bay can convey over forty Space Marines through the most perilous of battlefields and protect them even from enemy Titans. The Mastodon's primary role is to deliver these troops directly into the breach created with the siege melta array mounted on its armoured prow. Few fortifications can withstand this fearsome weapon, the Legionaries passing through the melted stone, steel and flesh to press directly into the heart of the enemy position.

Although every Legion's armoury includes a number of Mastodons, deploying them is a major operation in itself and so it is only utilised in protracted siege operations where one or more entire Legions are amassed to deliver overwhelming force and destroy a foe no other was capable of engaging.

As the wars of the Horus Heresy ground onwards, however, these heavy assault transports saw use in increasing numbers as both sides committed every last effort to destroy utterly their hated foe.